Luke (17:15-19) narrated the passage of Jesus healing ten men with leprosy. But One of them, when he saw he was healed, came back, praising God in a loud voice. He threw himself at Jesus' feet and thanked him—and he was a Samaritan.

Gratitude is a measure of human moral progress and it can be learned and developed. Science with modern non-invasive technology has shown the positive impact of gratitude and optimism in our physical and mental health.

The need for charity according to Paul (I Cor.13:1-7)
