"Any religion that does not enable people to become better individuals fails to meet its objective."

- Allan Kardec (in The Gospel According to Spiritism)

– Don't the spirits of the parents exercise an influence on their children after birth?

"A very great influence, because as we have already said, spirits should aid in one another's progress. As it is, the spirits of the parents have the mission of developing their children through education. This is a task for them – if they fail to perform it, they will be guilty."

- The Spirits' Book, q/a # 208
